CHARLES D. SCRUTON,	} Selectmen of Strafford.
ALBERT A. HANSON,
COTTON H. FOSS,

REPORT
OF THE
School Board of the Town of Strafford,
FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH, 1888.

We herewith present our annual report relating to our schools during the past year:

They have been fairly successful, but to say they have achieved the greatest good possible would be misrepresenting their true condition. There are several causes why they do not fulfill their highest mission, among which may be mentioned suitable schoolhouses in some districts, a want of punctuality and constant attendance of many of the pupils, which sadly injures their advancement and retards the progress of the school generally. Many persons seem to think that when they have voted the money and provided suitable books for their children, there their duties end. It does seem that parents should take interest enough in the welfare of their children to have a constant supervision of their attendance and progress, habits of studies and position in their classes, so that all the benefit resulting from the money laid out shall produce the greatest possible good to every scholar.

When the scholar returns at close of school and enters his or her complaint of real or fancied injuries, wait before taking sides and learn the true merits of the case, when, frequently, the supposed injury will dwindle into an infinitesimal quantity.

Teachers are human beings, subject to the infirmities that flesh is heir to. That some of the instruction given in our schools is lamentably deficient, is evident to the most casual observer. It requires qualities for success in teaching of the highest order. The teacher who goes into the schoolroom and scolds, and blusters, and threatens, and lays down laws with penalties attached, has mistaken his calling. He may have the education to teach the branches required by law, but the manner, the how to give instruction so as to make an impression on the scholar's mind may be entirely wanting.

We have introduced at reduced rates Harper Brothers' geographies. Warren's have been in our schools for eight or ten years, with many other authors on the same subject, increasing the difficulty, hence the necessity of multiplying classes and impairing the usefulness of our schools. Geography is a progressive science. What was stated as truth three or five years ago may be far from truth to-day. The Harpers gave the town a set of books for each school desk in town. We wrote the name of each school district on the cover, and it is to be hoped they will be taken care of in the future. We call your attention to the roll of honor, so called. We believe it to be unjust to parents, teachers and scholars. One school, the largest and best in town so far as scholarship is concerned, had but one name on its roll. Others had more names than scholars, which, indeed, is possible, but not probable. It appears that teachers have widely different views on this subject. More careful attention should be given to this matter as found in the registers.

We hope more attention will be given to filling out the registers. It is very difficult sometimes to pick out the necessary items required of us in our report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

We have introduced the following regulations, to be reported weekly by the teachers, and, we think, with excellent results :

1st. Names of all scholars tardy, and number of times tardy without a written excuse from parent or guardian.

2d. Names of scholars absent and number times absent without written excuse of parent or guardian.

3d. Number of scholars not properly using their time in study, and cause, if possible.

4th. Any injury done to school property, and name of party doing the same.

5th. All cases of disorderly conduct in or about the schoolroom, and name of parties.

Parents and guardians can but see the necessity of lending their earnest co-operation in enforcing a compliance with these regulations.

They have been not only an incentive to scholars to be more prompt in their school duties, but have assisted teachers in their arduous labors in the schoolroom. Your assistance is respectfully solicited in carrying out the above rules.

Habits of youth have much to do in forming the character of age.
